Many people incorrectly believe leadership begins with a position or a title. In reality, leadership is influence. Nothing more, nothing less. Success as a leader is not a destination, it is a process- a lifelong journey of building on strengths and developing skills that expand our influence with others.

John C. Maxwell is recognized as the world's foremost leadership expert and author. This TWO-DAY workshop is based on John Maxwell's best-selling book, REAL Leadership. This workshop translates the complex topic of leadership into simple, everyday language that can be applied and practiced in any organization. During this class, attendees will explore the essential traits of effective leadership, apply foundational leadership principles that will increase influence and build credibility with employees, and develop realistic plans for growth and change. This training will provide you with strategies to increase your leadership potential and practical action steps to accelerate your professional development.

Who should attend?

All current and future leaders who aspire to better serve their employees, agency and community. This includes both newly promoted and established supervisors or managers searching for a well-rounded and applicable philosophy of leadership, as well as those in need of foundational training for a future leadership position.
