What is the key to improving your leadership? Improving yourself. All impactful leadership begins with a thorough understanding of self-leadership. The principles learned in this workshop will allow you to lead in a way that will positively impact your life and the lives of those around you.

During this interactive workshop, you will learn key concepts and proven principles that will increase your influence, improve your effectiveness, and multiply your impact. You will discover ways to lead yourself and others more effectively, along with in-depth activities designed to help develop the leader within you.

This TWO-DAY workshop will explore the value of:

- Achieving success using the Five Levels of Leadership
- Building trust through personal integrity
- Prioritizing (it's not how hard you work, but how smart you work)
- Creating positive change and understanding the evolutionary process involved
- Identifying and solving problems and preventing their recurrence
- Defining and articulating a vision for your life
- Becoming character-driven instead of emotion-driven
